List the name of any business or combination of businesses from which you or your spouse received $2,000 or more in compensation (salary, thing of value, or economic benefit conferred on in return for services rendered, or to be rendered), in the preceding calendar year, which was reportable as taxable income on your federal income tax returns. Business means any corporation, association, partnership, proprietorship, trust, joint venture, and every other business interest, including ownership or use of land for income. The receipt of interest, dividends and mineral royalties does not constitute "compensation" as the term as defined, and those matters need not be reported under this provision; however, ownership interest concerning these items may need to be reported under section "C".

G. Receipt of Fees and Commissions

List each client or customer who pays fees or commissions to a business or combination of businesses from which fees or commissions your or your spouse receive an aggregate of $2,000 or more in the preceding calendar year. The phrase "client or customer" relates only to businesses or combination of businesses. In the case of a partnership, it is the partner's proportionate share of the business, and hence the fee, which is significant, without regard to expenses of the partnership. An individual who receives a salary as opposed to portions of fees or commissions is generally not required to report under this provision.
