QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote for this proposition would authorize the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population and would require the reapportionment of legislative districts in 1992 and in each tenth year thereafter on the basis of population figures from the United States bureau of the census.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(b) Within 15 days after the publication of an act reapportioning the legislative districts within the time specified in (a), the attorney general shall petition the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 30 days from the filing of the petition, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall enact a statute of reapportionment conforming to the judgment of the supreme court within 15 days.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"A vote for this proposition would authorize the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population and would require the reapportionment of legislative districts in 1992 and in each tenth year thereafter on the basis of population figures from the United States bureau of the census.

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote for this proposition would authorize the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population and would require the reapportionment of legislative districts in 1992 and in each tenth year thereafter on the basis of population figures from the United States bureau of the census.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote for this proposition would authorize the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population and would require the reapportionment of legislative districts in 1992 and in each tenth year thereafter on the basis of population figures from the United States bureau of the census.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote for this proposition would authorize the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population and would require the reapportionment of legislative districts in 1992 and in each tenth year thereafter on the basis of population figures from the United States bureau of the census.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. (b) Within 15 days after the publication of an act reapportioning the legislative districts within the time specified in (a), the attorney general shall petition the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 30 days from the filing of the petition, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall enact a statute of reapportionment conforming to the judgment of the supreme court within 15 days.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

"A vote for this proposition would authorize the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population and would require the reapportionment of legislative districts in 1992 and in each tenth year thereafter on the basis of population figures from the United States bureau of the census.

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

"A vote for this proposition would authorize the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population and would require the reapportionment of legislative districts in 1992 and in each tenth year thereafter on the basis of population figures from the United States bureau of the census.

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. The supreme court, within 30 days from the filing of the petition, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall enact a statute of reapportionment conforming to the judgment of the supreme court within 15 days.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. (c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"A vote for this proposition would authorize the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population and would require the reapportionment of legislative districts in 1992 and in each tenth year thereafter on the basis of population figures from the United States bureau of the census.

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. (c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. (b) Within 15 days after the publication of an act reapportioning the legislative districts within the time specified in (a), the attorney general shall petition the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 30 days from the filing of the petition, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall enact a statute of reapportionment conforming to the judgment of the supreme court within 15 days.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"A vote for this proposition would authorize the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population and would require the reapportionment of legislative districts in 1992 and in each tenth year thereafter on the basis of population figures from the United States bureau of the census.

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote for this proposition would authorize the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population and would require the reapportionment of legislative districts in 1992 and in each tenth year thereafter on the basis of population figures from the United States bureau of the census.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter. The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to reapportion either senatorial or representative districts or both in 1989 on the basis of the state census of population but would require that reapportionment of the districts of both houses in 1992 and thereafter be based upon a census of population by the United States bureau of the census. All reapportionment would be based upon population figures adjusted to exclude nonresident military personnel and college students and to include military personnel and college students who are residents of Kansas in the districts in which their permanent residence is located.

"A vote against this proposition would continue the present constitutional requirements for reapportionment of the legislative districts of both houses in 1989, and in each tenth year thereafter without any requirement regarding the source of population figures to be used."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Shall the following be adopted?

Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts. (a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or·both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to require the legislature to reapportion either state senatorial or representative districts or both during its 1989 regular session and to require the legislature to reapportion both senatorial and representative districts during its 1992 regular session and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter.
